Description of Longfellow.

Longfellow is a brown horse, five years old, nearly seventeen hands high, with one white heel behind and a blaze of white in his face.—He has large strong fetlock and pastern joints, filling the hoof finely, the cannon bones of each of the hind legs running up broad to the hock, the hock spread outside and as clear as a deer's with full, large stifles. Longfellow is long from the hip to the whirlbone; the crupper, where it reaches the tail, sets out strong and high, like the Arabian stock. He is wide in the hips, but round and smooth; well ribbed back, with a round chest; long tapering shoulders, running obliquely toward the hips, making the back look strong and short, presenting much capacity for carrying weight. He has a strong, well turned neck, filling the shoulders wide from the crest down; the poll of the neck running into a prettily formed head, with open jowls and large throttle, indicating easy breathing powers. To the connoisseur in the race horse, Longfellow presents more beauties of racing form than any horse we have ever seen. The arm at the elbow, where it leaves the body, is broad and strong, tapering well to hoof, with plenty of substance. His true thigh, from the whirlbone to the stifle, is so long that it makes the gaskin, or second thigh, appear almost as broad as the stifle itself. The horse appears in perfect order and fit to run for a man's life, and, barring accident, it does not seem to us that he is beatable. His owner, Mr. John Harper, of Kentucky, is so well pleased with him now that he declines selling him at all, and intends taking him back to Kentucky after his engagements in the North and breed from him. He will be a capital horse in the stud, as he is a Leamington all over, with a little more horse. Longfellow was sired by Leamington, dam Nantaura, by Counterplot (known as Brawner's Eclipse), grand dam Quiss, by Bertrand.

The Valley of Death.

A spot almost as terrible as the prophet's valley of dry bones, lies just north of the old Mormon road to California, a region 30 miles long by 30 broad, and surrounded, except at two points, by inaccessible mountains. It is totally devoid of water and vegetation, and the shadow of bird or wild beast never darkens its white glaring sands. The Kansas Pacific Railroad engineers discovered it, and also some papers which show the fate of the lost Montgomery train which came south from Salt Lake in 1850 guided by a Mormon. When near Death's Valley some came to the conclusion that the Mormons knew nothing about the country, so they appointed one of their number a leader, and broke off from the party. The leader turned due west; so with the people and wagons and flocks he traveled three days, and then descended into the broad valley whose treacherous mirage promised water. They reached the center, but only the white sands, bounded by scorching peaks, met their gaze. Around the valley they wandered, and one by one the men died, and the panting flocks stretched themselves in death under the hot sun. Then the children, crying for water, died at their mothers' breasts, and with swollen tongues and burning vitals the mothers followed. Wagon after wagon was abandoned and strong men tottered and raved and died. After a week's wandering a dozen survivors found some water in the hollow of a rock in the mountain. It lasted but a short time, when all perished but two, who escaped out of the valley and followed the trail of their former companions. Eighty-seven families, with hundreds of animals perished here, and now, after twenty-two years, the wagons stand still complete, the iron work and tires are bright, and the shriveled skeletons lie side by side.—Springfield Republican.

How to Avoid Sunstroke.

The following paragraph, indicating the way to avoid sunstroke, should be kept in view during the summer: "If the abstraction of heat is the true cure for sunstroke, it is also the true prevention. Do not let the heat accumulate in the body. When duty forces one into exposure to heat, there are various precautions that ought to be adopted. The clothing should be light and whitish in color, and should fit closely. Flannel is probably, on the whole, the best material. A wide brimmed, porous hat should be used and in the crown of it may be placed a wet towel or a large handkerchief.

Water should be freely used, externally and internally. Very close to the surface of the wrist rises a large artery, the radial. The old custom of allowing cold water to run over the wrist doubtless owes its value to the fact that so much blood is thus brought into contact with the cold water. Sweating is nature's great refrigerative measure, and to keep this up large quantities of water should be drunk—not too cold, but without sting—quarts, if thirst craves it.

Keep sweating and you are probably not in immediate danger, but when on a July or August day, one's head begins to throb and the surface grows dry and hot, whilst unwonted restlessness and lassitude come on, as he values his life, let him at once leave his work, however imperative, and take at once a cold bath."

A New Printing Ink.

Wm. H. Weeks, a practical chemist of New York city, has invented a printing ink that will copy in a common letter-press book. The ink, in appearance and mode of working it, is precisely like ordinary printing ink—works freely, dries quickly, and is clear, sharp and brilliant, both before and after copying. The invention meets a want of railroad, steamship and express companies, and merchants and other business men to retain accurate copies of manifests, statements, bills, and other important papers.

To obtain such an ink was the ambition of the indefatigable James Watt toward the close of the last century, and since that time repeated efforts have been made by chemists and others, both in this country and Europe, to produce the results which Mr. Weeks has arrived at. The effect is said to be chiefly due to a skillful combination of soluble silicates with the resinous principles of the ink, only the finest colors are susceptible of producing perfect transfers, and as the chemicals employed tend to further develop the color, the new inks are more brilliant than the choicest products of the favorite European manufacturers. On the specimens before us the copies are as sharp and bright as the original, and the original bears no evidence whatever of having parted with any of its color.

Our Future Cracks.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 26.—The great annual yearling sale of thoroughbred colts, fillies, and trotting stock belonging to Mr. A. J. Alexander took place at the Woodburn Farm this day. The attendance was very large, the weather fine, and the sale one of the most satisfactory ever held. The bidding on some of the lots, especially on some of those related to several of the cracks now on the turf was exceedingly spirited, the prices realized being far in advance of those of last year, when twenty-four colts were sold at a trifle over $168 each, while the twenty-one sold to-day average $969.30 each. The fillies also sold far in excess of last year, when twenty-two fillies, all yearlings but one, averaged a trifle over $574, while the twenty-two sold to-day averaged $755.25 each. The seventeen head of trotting stock which were sold after the thoroughbreds all realized fair prices, bringing a total of $5,740, which with the total of $20,355 that the twenty-one colts brought and the $16,615 that the twenty-two fillies sold for, makes a grand total of $42,710 as the result of the sale, against $26,505, the result of last year's sale, when fifty-six head of stock were sold, against sixty sold to-day, the excess, however, being in trotting stock.

How Shall he Go.

A tall, slim man of the New York Post is in trouble. He wants to know what character to assume at the Masquerade. A Gotham journal advises him to chalk his head and go in as a billiard cue.

He might braid his legs and go in as a whip lash.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

We beg leave to suggest that he might swallow himself, round and round, a few dozen times and go in as a roll of tape.—[Caucasian.

We beg to suggest that he cross his legs and go as the stakes of a Virginia worm fence.—[Chillicothe Constitution.

The Paris True Kentuckian advises him to wrap himself in the American flag and go as a barber's pole.

A little straw round his hat would make him appear as a broom.—[Interior Journal.

Let him bristle his hair and go as a whitewash brush.—[Helena Gazette.

He should dress in a suit of tar, and go as a pitchfork.—[Corrinne Reporter.

He might dove-tail his legs and go in as a beau-knot; or he might get drunk, and go in as a cork-screw.—[Mokelumne Independent.

He might wire on a couple of glass-insulators to his ears and go in as a telegraph pole; or paint his legs black and pass for a pair of tongs.

Four years ago, a very wealthy lady in Penkridge, near Stafford, England, became enamored of a retired baker and widower named Rogers, and availed herself of the privileges of the season by proposing marriage to him. To her grief, the modest man declined the proposition, remaining true to his first love, notwithstanding the grave had buried her from sight. Imagine his perplexity, then, on receiving intelligence some six months since that his jilted lover had died, bequeathing him all her property, variously estimated at from £4,000 to £6,000 per annum, and consisting of a large estate in Cumberland, a mansion in Belgravia, picture galleries, horses, broughams, besides a suite of servants. Rogers has hitherto lived in obscure contentment in his little cottage on the banks of the Penk; he had but just declined to visit her bedside, to which she had summoned him in a note by her own hand; and why he should be preferred over her nephews and nieces he could not divine. The mystery of love is past fathoming.

Sewing Machines.
The hurly-burly of the Sewing-Machine war is ended. Various manufacturers have paraded their machines before the public, with a great flourish of trumpets and waving of banners. In their eagerness to effect sales, the different agents resorted to all sorts of trickery to trap the unwary, and hundreds of farmers' wives, and farmers themselves, in this county, had forced upon them worthless machines in an unguarded moment. You, who have not yet made up your minds which to buy of the many machines offered, we advise to carefully examine into the merits of the "Domestic." Independent of its many good qualities, (and we believe it to be the best in the world) it is in the hands of a gentleman here, well known to thousands of our readers, who would not knowingly make false representations.—We feel justified in saying that we believe A. Goodrich fully satisfied himself, before taking the agency of the "Domestic," that it was perfect in all its parts, and that he could unhesitatingly recommend it to all.

THE DAILY FREEMAN.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT.)

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 8, 1872.

LIBERAL REPUBLICAN ADDRESS.

FELLOW REPUBLICANS:

We have fought so many fights and won so much for liberty together that we love one another, and love the Republican party as well. But the progress of events has compelled many of you to differ with us. Moved by friendship we candidly set forth herein the principal reasons which have compelled us to support Horace Greeley instead of U. S. Grant. In doing this we arraign his advisers as much as himself.

It is dishonorable to demand more of others than we will do ourselves. We will not submit to martial law and military interference of the Federal government in the elections in our State, and should not ask other commonwealths to do so. One of our first principles was opposition to Federal interference with popular sovereignty in the states. We fought against bayonets forcing an odious constitution on Kansas, and now oppose the use of the regular army to set aside the honest vote of any state, as has been the case in Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina and Georgia. During the war we promised to return to constitutional principles as soon as the strife was over; but to-day Grant and his advisers oppose it. We wish to be true to our word. While advocating universal suffrage and the right of self-government, laws are attempted to be made, and are made and enforced, which govern cities and counties by appointed commissions, if not by martial law. These are usurpations of power which, if not onerous now, must be in the future. Tyrants apologize by claiming policy and precedent. We wish to leave neither as an inheritance to our children.

We believe this Union of States can only be preserved by cultivating brotherly love and mutual forbearance. If we do not forgive we cannot be loved. Besides, a preference for one class over another breeds civil turmoil and war. Therefore we declare for impartial suffrage and universal amnesty. Neither has been practiced by General Grant or his advisers.

Instead of protecting the people of all the states he has lent the army to force on our sister states mercenary demagogues, who have plundered them out of sums which have never before been equaled, reducing many of the states to the verge of bankruptcy and financial ruin, while their only supporters were a misled class.

Lincoln taught and practiced a Republicanism which invited a free discussion of all questions. Grant has seen fit to use the patronage of the government to punish free debate.

A large majority of the party, either through feeling or policy, did not want Grant nominated; therefore we declare him "a machine" candidate and not that of Republicans.

He has used the government to reward relatives and those who made him large presents, thereby bringing it in disrepute.

Instead of treating Sumner, Schurz, Fenton, Tipton, Greeley, Brown, Trumbull and their hosts of followers as friends and fathers of the party, the advisers and defenders of Grant revile them and attempt to bring their honest fame into disrepute, simply because they differ on the confirmation of treaties, annexation of foreign states negotiated, and questions of internal policy. Thus instead of trying to unite the party the administration has broken it into two great parts.

To sum it all up, the tenor of his whole political action for more than half his term has been to disrupt the republican party, the culmination being reached at Philadelphia, where his chronic habit of preferring himself to the party kept him at the head of its ticket when a due regard to its perpetuity demanded that he should withdraw, giving place to some Republican who could unite the party and lead it to victory. And it is in the same spirit of usurping disregard of their constituency that his principal spokesmen and presses have contemptuously replied to the remonstrances of old, tried and faithful Republicans with "What are you going to do about it?"

The only course that is left us is to join those whom we love and are nearest right.—With these feelings we appeal to you to join with us in support of Horace Greeley, Brown and Reform. But whatever you do, do with reason, remembering we have as good a right to accept the aid of the Democracy as those who support Grant. Even they do not hope to elect him without Democratic votes.

Republican Central Committee of Ulster Co.

The Liberal Republican Address.

At the head of these columns will be found the Address of the Liberal Republican Committee of Ulster County. It is strongly signed, nearly every signature representing a Republican who has voted the ticket from the organization of the party to the last election, and whose allegiance to Republican principles has been unquestioned and unquestionable. It may also be said of them that they have labored for the success of the Republican party from first to last. It is within our knowledge that back of them in all sections of the county is a large and growing body of earnest, zealous Republicans.

They, and we, consider the nomination of General Grant an outrage upon the Republican party, destructive of its unity and subversive of its perpetuity. It was well-known to the partisans of Gen. Grant that his nomination would split the party in twain, and irrevocably divide it.—Such being the case, the party policy demanded that a man should have been selected for standard-bearer around whom the Republican hosts could rally with a common and enthusiastic love, a hearty and conquering zeal, and a faith in victory born of the knowledge that the unity of the party would secure it. It did not need that the wishes of one faction should give place to another, but that a Republican independent of sections should be nominated, that all differences might be forgotten in his support.

Such a plain disregard of political common sense was the more inexplicable, when we consider that the Republican party is not so barren of great men that the nomination of Grant was at all necessary. A party which embraces within its limits such long-time Republicans as Colfax, Blaine, Henry Wilson, Wilson of Iowa, Dawes, Garfield, Hoar, was not required to select a man for whom a large section of the party could not vote without doing violence to their conscience and approving wrongs that must be righted else the essence of our liberties is lost.

The re-nomination of Grant, then, when it was certain that he could not command a united support from Republicans, and while the convention was as free to choose a Republican who could command such support, was a base attempt to force suicide upon the party. Its action plainly said to Republicans that their support was a matter of indifference, so long as their allegiance to Grant was not subservient to their love for the best interests of the party. Contemptuously driving out of the ranks Republicans who would not submit to whippers-in, it vainly appeals to Democrats to make those votes good by their own, and substitutes the clap-trap and machine-made enthusiasm of its suspiciously unanimous convention for the spontaneous acquiescence of those upon whom the burden of party work had fallen.—Never before has a nomination by a Republican National Convention fallen so flat upon those it claimed as its constituency, showing that the subordination of the party to an individual is not forgiven or acquiesced in.

We cannot but feel that to fail to protest against such action by a Convention presuming to represent a constituency whose wishes it ignores, is to sanction despotic rule by party managers. We therefore turn to the man who has led our party in ideas from its birth to the present time, and ask Republicans to consider whether he who has been faithful through abuse and persecution, through storm and sunshine, through unpopular and popular periods, from the time when anti-slaveryism was a hissing and reproach to the present, will be any less faithful in the future to principles of which his life is an embodiment. No better Republican lives to-day than Horace Greeley, and to none does the party owe more.

Public Health.

The prosperity of a city depends largely on its health. If the authorities allow filth to accumulate in the streets and in private yards, a nuisance is sure to come from it to breed fevers and contagions. The East end of Kingston stinks. This is plain English, but necessity demands plain terms. The weather is hot, and yet the dog days have not begun. Asiatic Cholera is reported in New York. Do not these facts warn our authorities to look out in time for the public health. Vigilance on their part is the need of the hour.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Gideon Welles thinks Greeley infinitely preferable to Grant. He also says the mission of the Republican party is performed.

Greeley's little speech at the Press dinner was an admirable answer to those who have talked about his bad company. His friends, he said, were those who had always been his friends, and were around him then. As the head of the leading paper in New York, the profession is justly proud of him.

THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION.

BALTIMORE, July 6.

About two hundred delegates to the Convention arrived to-night, the most of whom are from the Southern and distant States. A majority of the New York delegation including Gov. Hoffman and Augustus Schell, have arrived and are quartered at the Carrollton. A large number of representatives of the press have arrived. The name of Gen. John II. McClernand of Illinois, is mentioned as the most prominent for President of the Convention by the Southern delegates now here.

NEW YORK, July 7.

Baltimore specials mention a change in the programme, that neither Philips, Francis, Thomas, or Gov. Vance stand a chance for temporary chairman of the Democratic Convention, and that John B. Baldwin of Virginia is now prominent, with Thomas S. Bocock and Jefferson Randolph of the same state, and Government English of Connecticut, are also spoken of. The names of Gen. Joseph Shields of Indiana and Senator Casserly of California, are talked of for permanent President, though Gen. McClernand still has the inside track. The New York delegation appointed Gov. Hoffman, Chairman, and Mr. Cassidy of Albany and Mr. Gordon of Delaware County, Secretaries. There seems little doubt that Greeley will be next to unanimously nominated on the first ballot. It is not believed the bolters of the Convention will ever assemble.

THE HOUARD CASE.

NEW YORK, July 7.

Secretary Fish, March 9th, telegraphed our Charge d'Affairs at Madrid, recognizing the citizenship of Dr. Houard and directing him to remonstrate against the proceedings of the Cuban Court Martial as a violation of the provisions of the Treaty, and to ask the immediate release of the prisoner. Three days later Fish wrote in a letter to Vice President Colfax, which is published to-day, reviewing Dr. Houard's case in a manner by no means favorable to the prisoner. The Secretary shows that the long residence of Dr. Houard in Cuba, and his enjoyment of certain privileges to which are attached the right to become a Spanish subject, in some degree justifies the authorities in regarding Dr. Houard as subject to their jurisdiction; while on the other hand he says nothing whatever had been brought forward in the doctor's behalf to illustrate or prove his assertion at any time of his American citizenship until the misfortune of his arrest and imprisonment occurred. Secretary Fish in his letter goes on to review the evidence against Dr. Houard, and declares it was of a character that would have convicted a party accused of the same offence during our war. The Secretary adds: "The strong point which prevents the intervention of this government in behalf of Dr. Houard from becoming efficacious for his release, is the fact that he has been regularly tried and found guilty by a duly constituted tribunal in the Island of Cuba."

CITY ORDINANCE.

An Ordinance concerning the powers and duties of certain Officers.

Passed June 19, 1872.

The Common Council of the City of Kingston do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. Every person violating, or refusing or neglecting to obey any lawful command or direction of the mayor, or acting mayor, superintendent of streets, sewers and city property, or of any fire-warden or alderman, given by him in pursuance of any power or duty conferred or imposed upon him by the city charter or any other statute of this State, or by any ordinance of this city, shall thereby for each violation, refusal or neglect, incur a penalty of not less than five nor more than twenty-five dollars in the discretion within those limits of the court before which the prosecution for such penalty shall be had.

§ 2. The mayor is hereby authorized to direct by writing to be signed by him any prosecution to be commenced and prosecuted to judgment against any person in the name of the city, for any violation of any ordinance of the common council, or any resolution having the effect of an ordinance, or for the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture, cost and expenses prescribed or imposed by such ordinance or resolution or by any law of this State, and which may be sued for and recovered in the corporate name of the city in any such action, and it shall be the duty of the corporation counsel to appear for the city and prosecute the action to judgement; and every direction and authority given in accordance with this section shall be as valid and effectual as if given or conferred by the common council. In case of the absence or disability of the mayor, this section shall apply to the acting mayor.

§ 3. It shall be the duty of the city clerk,

1. To record at length the ordinances, rules and resolutions of the common council as a part of their proceedings, and such reports or other documents or portions thereof as the common council may by special resolution direct him to enter in their proceedings.

2. To cause to be published in the manner required by law, all ordinances of the common council, and to procure and file in his office proof of their publication, which proof shall be in such form as may be approved by the corporation counsel.

3. To post, enter or record all such ordinances in a book or books provided and kept for that purpose [keeping ordinances or resolutions relating to street or sidewalk improvements separate from the others], and to add after each ordinance so posted, entered or recorded, a certificate of the time and manner of its publication, which certificate shall be in such form as may be approved by the corporation counsel.

4. To cause to be published and served in the manner required by law, under the advice of the corporation council, all ordinances, resolutions and notices of the common council which are required to be published or served, and to procure and file in his office affidavits of their service and publication; which affidavits shall be in such form as may be approved by the corporation counsel.

5. To cause to be printed when ordered by the common council for the use of the city officers, a pamphlet volume containing the city charter, the act amending the same, the general orders and regulations of the board of health, the general ordinances and resolutions of the common council, and such other matter as the common council may direct, together with a certificate signed by said clerk in such form as may be approved by the corporation counsel, to the effect that such volume contains a correct transcript of every ordinance or resolution embraced in it, and was printed by authority of the common council. The number of copies of said volume shall not exceed two hundred, unless the common council direct a larger number to be printed.

6. To preserve and safely keep all maps, surveys, field books, reports, certificates, deeds, books, bonds, agreements, vouchers of the city treasurer, memoranda and papers, the property of the city of Kingston or relating to its affairs, which are now in or which shall hereafter come to his hands or possesion as such clerk.

7. To furnish when required for use for the city or the commissioners of the alms house, in any litigation or otherwise, certified copies of any ordinance, resolution or proceeding of the common council and of any paper or record in his custody.

8. To furnish any member of the common council any information in his power relative to the business of the city.

9. To prepare and furnish to the mayor or presiding officer of the common council at each or any meeting, if required by him, a minute of any business referred to committees at any previous meeting which has not been reported upon, and of any unfinished business.

10. To report to the common council the names of all persons who shall neglect or refuse to qualify or take upon themselves any office to which they have or shall have been elected or appointed.

11. To number consecutively all bills, accounts, and claims after they shall have been acted upon, and file the same in the order of their numbers; to mark upon each bill audited the number of the warrant issued for its payment as soon as the same shall be issued; to permit no bill or account to be withdrawn after being presented, unless by order of the common council; and to keep an audit book and properly enter therein without delay, every bill, account or claim in the order of its number, after it has been acted upon by the common council and audited and allowed either in whole or in part or rejected, in such manner as to show the number of the account, the number of the warrant [if any] for its payment, the date of the action upon it, the amount claimed, the amount allowed, and if it was rejected, the fact of its rejection.

12. To enter in a book to be provided for that purpose all assessments, after the same shall have become final, for or on account of the opening or improvement of any street, alley, public ground, sewer, drain, culvert or sidewalk.

13. To keep an accurate account of the receipts and the expenditures of the city, in a general account; and also separately, classifying them with reference to each source of revenue and each general object, class of objects or purposes for which expenses are made or incurred and in reference to each opening of a street or sewer, or other improvement involving an assessment; to charge the treasurer separately with the amount of each tax or assessment for the collection of which a warrant shall be issued to him and credit him with the amount collected on each as well as the amount allowed by the common council as uncollectible on each, so as to show the condition of the account as to each tax or assessment separately; and also to charge the treasurer with all moneys received by him from any and all sources and credit him with all moneys lawfully paid out by him, as well as the amount remaining in the treasury, so as to show the condition of the accounts at any time a balance may be required to be struck.

14. To do and perform all other duties required of him by law or by any ordinance or resolution of the common council.

§ 4. The city treasurer shall keep his accounts as required by the charter and in the manner indicated in subdivision 13 of the last preceding section and shall confer with the clerk, to the end that their respective accounts may be classified alike. He shall report to the common council at its first meeting in every month, the condition of the city finances and of each fund.

§ 5. It shall be the duty of the superintendant of streets, sewers and city property, in addition to the duties imposed upon him by the city charter.

1. To see that all contracts for labor or materials or for any public improvement which may exist between the city and any person or persons, are faithfully and properly performed by the contractors, and to report to the mayor any failure or neglect on the part of any contractor.

2. To see that the inlets to the sewers are kept open, that the streets and alleys are not encumbered with obstructions or nuisances and that there are no violations of the city ordinances respecting them.

3. To superintend the making of street, sewer and sidewalk improvements to the end that they may be made in accordance with the ordinances therefor.

4. To designate [in conjunction with the health officer and health superintendant] the time of cleaning each street and to give or cause to be given notice thereof by a written or printed notice, to the owner or owners, occupant or occupants of every lot, tenement or building fronting or bording on the same; and to see that the scavengers or contractors promptly and faithfully remove the dirt and refuse heaped up by such cleaning, and the garbage deposited in vessels for removal.

5. To cause all ordinary repairs to be made to the streets so as to keep them in good condition and to report to the mayor or common council the necessity, whenever it exists, of any further repairs to the streets or of any repairs to any of the sewers or city property.

6. To report to the mayor or common council all violations falling under his observation of any city ordinance.

§ 6. It shall be the duty of the fire-wardens in their respective wards, when required, carefully to examine and inspect all fire-places, grates, furnaces, stoves, stove-pipes, ovens, chimneys and places for keeping or depositing ashes or charcoal; and when required by the mayor or any alderman of said city, or requested by any citizen thereof, to examine and inspect any particular fire-place, stove, stove-pipe, place for keeping and depositing ashes or charcoal, and all other places which may be reported in a dangerous situation, by reason of fire, and give such orders and directions relative thereto as by them shall be deemed necessary for the security and safety of said city, and to make written reports of such examinations and inspections to the mayor, at least once in every month; and to enforce the ordinance for the prevention of fires and promptly report to the mayor or common council all violations thereof; and to perform all other duties imposed upon them by any ordinance of said city.

§ 7 It shall be the duty of the said fire-wardens in their respective wards immediately on the alarm of any fire which may take place in said city, to repair to the place where such fire may be, and to act as conservators of property at such fires, and to take charge and custody of any goods and chattels which may be in danger from fire, and to direct the removal thereof; and when the same shall be removed, to secure them against such fire and their being wasted or purloined; to aid and assist in procuring supplies of water when necessary by requiring the inhabitants of said city or by-standers to form ranks and lines to carry the same; to require such inhabitants or by-standers to aid the firemen in working their engines, hooks, ladders or hose, and to aid in removing and protecting property at such fires; to prevent the hose from being trod upon or injured, and to keep all idle persons at a proper distance from the fire and the vicinity thereof.

§ 8. Any fire-warden who shall neglect or refuse to perform any of the duties prescribed in the two last preceding sections, shall be liable to the penalty of ten dollars for each and every offence.

§ 9. The said fire-wardens, when at fires, shall be subject to the direction of the chief engineer of the fire department, or the person acting in his stead.

§ 10. If any person or persons shall molest or prevent any of said fire-wardens in the performance of any of their duties, such person or persons shall, for every such offence, forfeit the penalty of ten dollars.

§ 11. In addition to their other duties, the constables, policemen and special policemen shall report to the mayor or common council all violations of any of the city ordinances coming under their observation.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT.)

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 8, 1872.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Cool.

The thermometer at Overlook Saturday at 3 P. M., 68°.

Coal Arrival.

Seventy-one canal boats laden with nine thousand and twenty-four tons of coal reached Eddyville on Saturday, through the Delaware and Hudson canal.

Badly Scalded.

A child of Michael Kelly, aged about eighteen months and whose home is on Chambers street, was, on Friday, left alone in a room after the dinner table had been set, the mother of the child having occasion to go into another apartment. In the meantime the little one upset the contents of the coffee-pot over its breast and face, scalding it in a very painful, but not dangerous, manner.

Struck too Hard.

Patrick Dooly, of Lindsley's quarry, while boxing and fooling around generally with some of his fellow workmen, struck one of them a blow on the side of his head, and broke the bone of his hand badly. The man who was struck wasn't hurt, though he was knocked down.

Correction.

We have been requested by Mr. D. C. Reid, the agent in this city of the A. M. U. Express Company, to say that the statement made in the FREEMAN on Saturday last of the remains of the late Thomas C. Brodhead being forwarded to Kingston, Canada, through a blunder of some railway official, is untrue. Owing to the excessive heat it was necessary, several times during the transportation of the body, to detain it for repacking, as the way-bills in Mr. Reid's possession testify, and the express company forwarded the casket as rapidly as circumstances would permit.

Accident.

Yesterday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock, a schooner belonging at Kingston, and heavily laden with stone, came out from the northern part of the Lackawana coal dock, and attempted to get out in the river, but owing to the strong wind that was prevailing at the time she struck a canal boat that was lying at the dock, with considerable force, smashing in her sheeting a little, and sustaining some other slight injuries.—Newburgh Telegraph.

Queer Freak.

One day during the past week while Frank, a son of Dr. Hulne, was driving through Abeel street with a bag of oats on the rear end of the wagon, a canal steed, who had evidently been kept on short rations, either saw or scented the stomach-satisfying contents of the bag, and without more ado made a raid upon said bag by climbing on the end of the wagon, causing it to capsize, throwing Frank and the bag to the ground and breaking the vehicle. The horse, astonished at what he had done, galloped off to his stable, and now the city will have a bill of damages to pay for permitting cattle to run loose in the streets.

Horse Drowned.

A. S. Babcock, a farmer who lives on the Brabant road, on Saturday between 11 and 12 o'clock went to Romer & Tremper's dock with a horse and wagon to get a mowing machine. The steamer Eagle was lying at the wharf and the employees in the store house were engaged in taking off and putting freight upon her, so Mr. Babcock went to help himself. In the meantime his horse became startled at something and plunged off the dock into the creek, carrying the wagon with him. The horse while in the water became detached from the wagon, and some men in a small boat attempted to save its life by swimming it to the opposite shore, but the animal drowned before reaching there. The wagon sank as soon as the horse was freed from it, and a box, in which there was about ten dollars in money, went down with it. The horse was valued at one hundred and fifty dollars. The wagon was subsequently recovered. Mr. Babcock sells milk, which accounts for the money being in a box in the wagon.

Ellenville.

Ellenville has a fountain epidemic. The great head furnished by the stream (150 feet) renders this ornamental work easy and comparatively inexpensive. A large one valued at $500 is being placed in front of the Terwilliger Hotel, and private grounds are considered incomplete without one.

CITY NOTES.

A child died, from the effects of the heat it is supposed, on board the Mary Powell during her up passage on Thursday last. The remains were taken on shore at Cozzens.

The Street Superintendent was doing a good work on Saturday last in having men and carts gathering up and removing the accumulated filth from our streets.

An unusually large number of canal boats and barges were lading coal at the Company's docks on Saturday last. These vessels were mostly bound for northern ports.

Hiram Roosa has been made Corresponding Secretary of the Fat Men's Association of this city.

Hype Myers, special policeman in Upper Kingston, brought before the Recorder on Saturday two men and one woman for having been disorderly Friday night. They hadn't got over keeping the 4th that night, and so became very drunk. The Recorder imposed a fine on each, then told them to go and sin no more.

Attempt at Suicide.

Among the numerous passengers on the steamer Mary Powell on Monday afternoon, July 1st, from New York, was the Rev. Mr. Evans, a Methodist clergyman of Cold Spring, Putnam county. About three weeks ago Mr. Evans became unsound in mind. Since the revival meetings held last winter in his church, Mr. Evans has been gradually sinking from an overtasked mind into utter derangement. In the hopes of restoring his mental faculties he was taken to the sea-shore. There he remained only a short time, with unfavorable results. A physician thought a voyage beneficial and acting upon this advice. Monday he took the Mary Powell for home to prepare himself for such a toor. The unfortunate preacher was accompanied by his wife. During the passage up the river, and when near Haverstraw Bay, he unknowingly strolled to the edge of the upper deck on the west side, got outside the railing near the wheelhouse, and made a desperate plunge to leap overboard. Mr. William W. Trask of Newburgh caught the reverend gentleman and saved him.—Newburgh Telegraph.

Accidents.

A laboring man, name unknown, was run over by the cars on the Midland, July 4th, at Wurtsboro, and so mangled that he died the same night. One of his legs was completely severed from the body.

By the premature explosion of an anvil at Wurtsboro on the morning of the 4th, Alexander Gumaer of that place was almost instantly killed—a piece of iron used in firing it being driven through his body. Widely known and a universal favorite, his death cast a shadow over the place.

The cars on the Midland got off the track again yesterday, causing a delay of six hours.

Arrivals at Overlook.

A. Willis, C. C. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Poole, Mr. F. Polhemus, Wm. H. Bailey, wife, two children and nurse, C. E. Seitz, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kraff, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Burritt, of Brooklyn: J. A. Gendell, Miss Appleton, Miss Behrens, of Philadelphia; F. H. Griffiths, L. D. Hoornbeck, Rondout; O. DuBois, N. S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lounsbery, Miss C. D. Lounsbery, Gen. J. S. Smith, E. W. Budington and two daughters, Mrs. Abbie E. Pierce, Kingston; Miss Mary P. McGillivrai, Delhi.

The Accord Celebration.

The rain spoiled the entertainment at Accord on the 4th of July. There were some 5,050 persons present at the grove, but the orations consumed so much time the rain came, and the people hurried off without eating, so the Society lost about $600. John D. Winfield fell from his horse while marching at the head of the Odd Fellow brigade—cause sunstroke. Another man from the same reason fell down in the ranks. The sun during the march was scorching hot, and the great wonder is that it didn't melt the whole party.

Ellenville Cutlery Works.

The Co-operative Cutlery Co. have come to a stand-still in their business operations here. Their action does not affect the security of the property of the Building Co., of which they rent their factory. An effort is being made to raise money enough by stock subscriptions to purchase the machinery and tools of the Co-operative Co. at their cash value, and keep the business in our midst. The amount required to accomplish the purpose is $8,000.—Over $5,000 is already subscribed. Those who are interested here in property or business have already reaped benefits by the presence of these mechanics in our place, and any action which permits their departure would be very bad policy for our business interests.—There is very little doubt that the business can be carried to a flourishing issue in a very little while under proper and energetic management, and the plan of a stock company has been demonstrated to be the only proper and feasible way of accomplishing that result.—We trust there will be no hesitation on the part of our business men in taking this one further step in securing the full benefits of an important industry in our thriving village.—Ellenville Press.

Heavy Failure.

About a week ago some enterprising boys in upper Kingston, thinking to add to the money they had lain away for the Fourth of July, put their treasures together and started a store. They were under the least possible expenses, with no rent nor clerk-hire to pay, clerking it themselves, and having their store upon the sidewalk, upon a table under a somewhat worn sheet. Their stock in trade consisted of fire-crackers, torpedoes, cigars and lemonade. One could buy a cigar of this enterprising firm as low as three cents, and as these cigars were called the Dolly Varden, it shows how cheap the name has become. The new firm flourished very well at first. To be sure, a man stopping at this store, buying a cigar and offering a dollar bill, it was only by dint of scraping together the resources of the concern that the full change was finally made out; but nevertheless the firm thought they were getting on. Then they fell upon evil times. Trade declined. Money became tight. The patrons of the store had lavished their last cent. In this pinch it was resolved to open accounts with certain of the boys. An old book was procured, and a brisk trade began. The goods went off rapidly. Before it was time to close the store that night the stock was exhausted. The next morning the store was opened; but the firm had only lemonade to sell. It was decided to at once collect the debts so as to replenish the stock. The bills were made out and presented. One bill alone amounted to seventy-six cents. The bills were presented, but they were not paid; the gentlemen who were politely dunned said there was no way to pay until the Fourth.—But even then they did not pay; they used the money for other purposes than to pay their debts. Things looked dark indeed. The firm is busted. The store is closed. The owners had little or no money to spend in celebrating the great liberty-day. All this shows the danger of the credit system. It proves that system to be a deceit and a snare.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Upon receiving the sad news of the unexpected death of FATHER COYLE, the members of the T. A. B. Society held a special meeting, at which a committee was appointed to draft a set of resolutions of condolence. This committee submitted at the regular meeting held on Sunday, 7th of July, 1872, the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty in his divine providence to remove from the scene of his labors our most beloved and esteemed pastor, FATHER COYLE; and

Whereas, We, the members of the T. A. B. Society, do feel that in his death the hand of our Heavenly Father has fallen particularly heavy upon us, be it therefore

Resolved, That, while recognizing the will of an all-wise God, in calling to himself his own devoted Priest, we deeply lament the loss of one who in all his relations of life ever showed himself the guide, the friend and the Faithful Father of his people.

Resolved, That we, a small portion of that sorrowing flock which has been made desolate by his decease, bear testimony to the untiring zeal, the ceaseless fidelity and unbounded charity that has characterized his labors as Pastor of St. Mary's congregation.

Resolved, That we shall hold in venerated recollection the many proofs evinced by his whole career in our midst that he was in the highest and holiest acceptation of the word, the true friend of all.

Resolved, That we tender our sympathy to his afflicted relatives in this their sad bereavement, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to them.

Resolved, That they be also published in the DAILY and WEEKLY FREEMAN.

LOOK AT THE FIGURES!

183,600 Machines per annum.

Many new machine companies have had their rise and fall—their machines once popular now scarcely known—others have made radical changes in order to exist; while the Howe Machine Company have adhered to the opinion of "Elias Howe, Master of Mechanics" ("The machine is mechanically correct; does not change"), built addition after addition to their factory, and to-day cannot supply the demand, although turning out six hundred machines a day—just a machine a minute.

THE ELIAS HOWE, JR.
Sewing Machines
MANUFACTURED BY The Howe Machine Co.

FOR FAMILIES AND MANUFACTURES,

THE GREAT PRIZE:
EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE, PARIS, 1867.
Awarded over eighty-two competitors

The Highest Premium,

THE ONLY CROSS OF THE LEGION OF HONOR AND GOLD MEDAL,

Given to American Sewing Machines, per Imperial Decree, published in the "Moniteur Universel" (Official Journal of the French Empire,) Tuesday, 2d July, 1867, in these words:

ELIAS HOWE, JR. { Fabricante de Machines a coudre exposant. Manufacturer of Sewing Machines, Exhibitor.

The Howe Sewing Machines

Are celebrated and known for doing the best work, using a straight and much smaller needle for the same thread than any other machine. They are adapted to any and all kinds of family sewing and manufacturing of every description, (from fine lace to patent leather,) making a beautiful and perfect Lock Stich, alike on both sides of the article sewed, and will neither rip nor ravel, and uses less thread.

Every machine is as near perfection as the best machinery in the world can make it. It is the oldest machine and has more improvements, and is nearer perfection than any other machine, the parts being exactly alike. If any of the parts need to be replaced, the operator can replace it, and it will outlast and outwear any machine made. They are remarkably simple and easily learned, sure in their operation, and almost impossible to break or get them out of order. They use any thread directly from the spool. The needle has a perpendicular motion, (absolutely necessary for heavy work,) runs easily, a fast sewer, and almost noiseless. They do not soil the dress of the operator, and do not have to be taken apart to oil and clean. The New Improved Family Machine cannot be surpassed and is without equal, and we CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a better machine on points of merit. A Hemmer, Feller, Gatherer, Braider, Quilter, Tucking Guide, and all the other necessary Tools go with each machine, free of charge.

☞Beware of spurious and bogus Howe's. The undersigned is the only authorized Agent for the Genuine Howe Machine.
